CONTINUOUS ACHIEVEMENT AND CUSTOMIZED LEARNING

Develop customized programs of study responsive to the individual interests and needs of all students.

A primary emphasis of the SPLOST program is an investment of technology in our schools. In order to be successful in the future, our students must participate in engaging instruction that allows them to gather, analyze and present information easily, share work with teachers, collaborate with other students, and utilize current technology to create and display their work.

Teachers and parents must have access to timely information on their students' performance. Teachers must also utilize current technology in their classrooms so that student learning can be engaging and focused on student's specific needs and interests.

Project

Redefined Media Specialist and media centers to better support customized learning through:

- New media specialist job description that focuses on supporting a 21st century learning environment
- Professional learning focused on coaching and transforming the use of technology in the classroom

Added a program specialist to support transformative technology use in the classroom

Delivered trainings to School Technology Specialists to support new tools and resources that encourage transformative uses of technology by teachers and students

Created the Vanguard Team to build capacity across the four learning communities by demonstrating, exemplifying and modeling the transformative use of instructional technology.

Purchased digital resources including electronic books and databases to support customized learning

Project

Purchased a Digital Repository that enables the distribution of various digital resources to individual students

Provided professional learning opportunities that promoted strategies and digital resources for customized and blended learning

Created virtual labs in every high school that increased access to online courses during the school day

A digital learning platform to allow for customized learning options will be available by fall 2014 for students in grades 6-12

Personalized Learning

Fulton County Schools collaborates with students, parents, staff, and the community to help design learning environments that ensures students leave the district with the skills needed to be successful in both college and careers.

Fulton County Schools provides the opportunity for students to explore and engage in experiences within and beyond the confines of the classroom. While providing differentiated and individualized learning to all students, FCS:

- ❖ Continually refines a learning model that is student-centric
- ❖ Provides flexible pacing and project-driven learning that considers the interests of the students
- ❖ Ensures that content and assessments are integrated in a manner that facilitates mastery of FCS curriculum standards and career and college readiness standards, and
- ❖ Efficiently leverages the Fulton Charter System in fostering school autonomy to provide school communities with tools and support to address the needs of their individual student populations
