

CONSIDER TEACHING THIS SUMMER WITH US

Looking for some work this summer? Want to learn more about the growing field of online learning? Consider joining the FV adjunct faculty for this summer!

We're an online program whose instructional model is to keep the interaction between student and teacher at the center of what we do. Many teachers have joined over the summer and found the experience to be beneficial both professionally and financially. As our enrollments grow, we are in search of more adjunct teachers from FCS's already talented and energetic pool of face-to-face classroom teachers. Here are the details about our upcoming Summer 2023 term.

When? The term runs from May 31st - July 12th. Here are some important dates during this term:

May 29th, 2023: Complete FV Onboarding Course (new teachers)

Where?

Teachers work remotely on all but one day. Teachers must attend summer pre-planning on May 30th and may optionally attend June 1st. New teachers must also complete FV Onboarding course online. We will send a calendar invite for each day closer to the event.

What will you be doing?

You will guide students through online courses, establishing individual relationships with each of your students. In addition, you'll grade their assignments and provide support to those who need it.

Additional Information

There will be completion benchmarks that students must meet to continue in their summer course. If a student does not make the required progress they will be administratively withdrawn.

1. 33% by 6/14

2. 50% by 6/21

3. 67% by 6/28

An Online Adjunct Training Module will be completed by all teachers prior to the summer session. The training module is designed to help with each aspect of online learning from progress monitoring to using the SIS and LMS to providing robust feedback that is effective in an online course.

The Compensation Model for teachers is based on course completion.

Teachers receive $130 when a student successfully completes (passes) a semester course or $260 for a full credit AB course.

If a student does not finish a course, the teacher receives the fraction of the $130 (or $260) that corresponds to the amount of the content the student completed. (For example, if a student finishes 25% of a course before they were dropped, the teacher will receive $0.25 \times 130 = $32.50$ for their work with that student.)
