Fulton Schools First STEP welcomes 71 teacher interns to learn from master teachers through year-long internship

- What: Fulton County Schools (FCS) welcomes 71 teacher interns to the second group of First STEP (formally called student teaching) to kick off their year-long teacher internship which will lead to a $3,000 stipend ($213,000 total) and early teaching contract for the 2020-2021 school year.
- Why: FCS is the first district in the state to make such a bold and innovative commitment to supporting the development of teacher candidates who FCS hopes to attract as first-year teachers next year. This year, FCS will host interns from six local colleges and universities: Clark Atlanta University, Georgia State University, Kennesaw State University, Spelman College, University of Georgia & University of West Georgia.
- When: July 30th 8:30 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.
- Where: Fulton County Schools Administrative Center
6201 Powers Ferry Rd NW
Atlanta, GA 30339
- Who: FCS Talent leaders and administrators, university partners (Clark Atlanta University, Georgia State University, Kennesaw State University, Spelman College, University of West Georgia), FCS teachers and teacher interns.
